I used this language before, but it would require some effort to bring the knowledge back to mind.

I know some other programming languages, but it's been so long since I used them and my knowledge about these is so limited that they are not worth mentioning here.

Development activities

Programmer

My professional activity is designing software, both for industrial processes (automation) and human interface (database interface, websites...).

YoYo Games Moderator

I'm a moderator on YoYo Games, the main website of Game Maker. This means that I'm part of a great team which monitors the website and the forums. If someone breaks the rules, we're the ones who stop this behaviour.

Game Developer

I also make games, though I admit that my other activities overrule this one. I have plenty of ideas, but I lack the time to complete them. I know that's a bad excuse, but I guess I think the other activities are more important to me. My games are posted on my YoYo Games profile.

Game Maker Example Developer

My website contains dozens of examples for Game Maker. Most of these were made by me. The website is still in development and I plan to expand it. Developers can also send me their examples and I'll post them on my website if they are approved. I also answer questions about Game Maker and the YoYo Games website.

Website Developer

I've made several websites, expanding my experience from HTML to PHP, VB.NET and eventually ActionScript for flash websites (somewhere in the near future, bought Flash Pro, but I'm still reading the book).

Other activities

I'm an actor in two local amateur groups. Apparently young men like me are scarce in acting groups, because most of us haven't got the time anymore (girlfriend, kids, work...). They say I'm good at acting, but they may as well say that because they want me to stay...

I also play pingpong in a local sportsclub.

I played basketball and tennis before, but neither of these activities lasted very long.

Other things I like are:

- Movies (action, animation, phantasy)
- Rock Music (Muse is my favourite band), Soundtracks (I love The Rock's soundtrack)
- Comic Books (i.e. Preacher, Batman, Punisher (MAX), Transmetropolitan, The Goon...)
- Singing (well, never had the courage to go public, but I did take singing lessons for 2 years)
- Girls (haven't actually got one, yet, but I guess that's my own fault, in some way)
